

Pressure Right SmartCare™ Acupressure Intervention For Nausea Control & More

Pressure Right acupressure strips are USFDA 510(k) cleared to help chemotherapy patients effectively deal with both early and delayed nausea symptoms. Its consistent anti-nausea effectiveness is continuous for up to 3 days. As a result, patients can have a hassle-free experience leading to a better quality of life recovery from chemotherapy.

Pressure Right's nausea resistant mechanism taps into the body's energy system, which is responsible to keep organs healthy. In the case of the P6 acupoint, the latter becomes the trigger point when stimulated by acupressure to transfer a sufficient amount of energy to override the effects of nausea and vomiting. The transference of this energy is directed to the heart, mind and stomach to repel the upsetting and prolonged impact of chemo-related nausea and vomiting issues.

Pressure Right compliments most oncology programs. Antiemetic drug therapies provide early prevention of nausea and vomiting in cancer patients, which is generally up to the first 24 hours following chemotherapy. After that prolonged nausea sets in requiring added measures. Those added drug measures have their own set of related adverse effects.

Relief from prolonged chemo-nausea is one of the main concerns of cancer patients before undergoing treatment.

Pressure Right's acupressure therapy used either as a preventive and/or treatment measure in conjunction with initial antiemetic drug therapy, helps calm the heart and mind as well as shields the stomach from nausea and vomiting disturbances related to chemotherapy for up to 3 days. Pressure Right is suitable for most cancer patients.
